AN INDIAN CAMP MEETING.

A Largely Attended and Very Successful Affair.

Rev. S. H. Ellis and wife, Salt River Indian missionaries, returned night before last from Twin Buttes, below Sacaton, where an Indian camp meeting has been in progress since last Thursday. Rev. Ellis and wife, C. H. Cook, D. D., and Rev. Richards, conducted the meeting, which was a very successful one in every respect. In point of attendance, it was really remarkable, over six hundred Indians spending the entire time of the meeting there and paying the strictest and closest attention to the services.

Rev. Ellis says that that section of the country at the present time is the hunter's paradise. Quail are so thick as to do damage to the crops, and gather around the Indian houses like so many chickens and are equally as tame. In order to hunt there, it is necessary to secure a permit from the Indian agent, but this done, it is an easy matter to get all the quail one wants.

Some one is bound to get the money, $50.00 given away to the best bread bakers. Bread must be made from "Ruby Flour."

CLEAN POLITICS.

Will Be the Result of an Agreement Signed by Both Parties.

At a recent meeting of the members of the county central committee of Tempe precinct of both parties, the following agreement was made and signed by the members and others:

"We, the undersigned, partisans of the republican and democratic parties, and members of the Maricopa county central committee of said political parties, respectively, representing Tempe precinct, hereby mutually agree, on behalf of said political parties and said central committees as represented in said Tempe Precinct, that, during the present political campaign and during and on the day of the coming county and territorial election to be held on the sixth day of November, 1906, we,

and each of us, as the local representatives of said political parties, respectively, and said county central committee, and in the interests of clean politics and good citizenship, will take, use and exercise all proper and honorable means to prevent the improper and illegal use of money, by any person whomsoever, in said precinct during said campaign and during said election and to detect and prosecute any and all persons using, attempting or offering to make any improper or illegal use of money by giving, paying or receiving or offering to give, pay or receive money in consideration of any ballot or vote cast, or to be cast, at and during said election.

"And we further mutually agree, on behalf of said respective political parties and said central committee, in aid of said Tempe Precinct, that we will not hire, use or run any carriage or other vehicle of any kind in said precinct on said day of election for the purpose of carrying voters to or from the voting place or polls or elsewhere in said precinct."

"Witness our hands this 30th day of October, 1906.

"J. B. Mullen, Samuel Brown, Robert L. Mullen, Chas. H. Jones, Alfred J. Peters, Fred C. Brechan, Andrae Jensen, C. G. Jones, Republicans.

"Chas. Woolf, B. B. Moeur, A. Nielsen, J. A. Dines, W. T. Cummings, W. M. Goodwin, H. L. Laird, Andrew Miller, Jr., Democrats."

Ask your grocer for Ruby Flour and "practice up" for the prize.

A TWO YEARS' ABSENCE
John Cummings and family, formerly of this place, arrived here yesterday from California. They have been away for nearly two years and expect to spend a few weeks here visiting friends and relatives, though they may locate permanently.

MORE CANDIDATES.
Elliott Evans, republican nominee for the assembly and J. G. Hardin, nominee for the same party to the office of sheriff, spent yesterday here interviewing voters. Both seem pleased with the outlook in the Tempe Precinct.

A SUNDAY SCHOOL CANVASS.
Within the next few days a house-to-house canvass will be made in Tempe in the interest of the Sunday schools of the town. Two members from each of the different Sunday schools of Tempe will make the canvass. Primarily, the object of the canvass is to obtain a complete religious census of the town and an effort will be made at the same time to encourage the attendance of young people at Sunday school.

CITY WATER.

The city will get water for irrigating purposes at 3:45 Friday afternoon.

A MESA JOINTSIT.

It was reported this morning that one Mesa man, Alfred Schaeffer, had become a jointsit. When interviewed upon the subject Mr. Schaeffer explained that he had been an advocate of jointsit for a long time but could find no young lady who would agree with him as to the terms of said jointsit, so in his case it was likely to be the state of single blessedness or none. He is known to have purchased two tickets to the show, however, so it may be that his prospects are brightening.

Martin Wood, a cattleman from Livingston, Arizona, came down yesterday to spend the winter with his family.

Miss Mae Sanborn of Micanite Colorado, arrived in Mesa this morning and will spend the winter with her aunt, Mrs. Geo. S. Irwin.

NOBLE RECEPTION.

Monday evening the members of the Lehi ward turned out in goodly numbers to express their good will to B. Noble and family who are leaving them for a home on the Mesa.

They have resided in Lehi for eleven years and Mr. Noble has for some time past been superintendent of the Sunday school there.

A number of good speeches were made by their friends and neighbors, expressing appreciation of their labors in that ward. The Sunday school then presented him with a nice Bible, and the ward gave him a good comfortable rocking chair.

A bountiful picnic lunch was then partaken of and the evening very pleasantly spent in conversation and songs.

AN ACCIDENT.

Sunday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pomeroy started for a drive, their little son Theone sat as usual on a little chair in front as that was thought to be the most safe and comfortable position for him.

But as the horse started up rather quickly, the chair slipped from its place and the child was thrown under the wheels.

The horse was stopped as quickly as possible, and on looking to see where the child was the wheel was seen to be still on his little arm.

It had struck him over the left eye, passed over the ear, and back of the head and onto the left arm.

Fortunately no bones were broken, and the only wound was a short gash over the eye, which was at once dressed by the doctor.

S. D. Shumway received a message yesterday from Pine, that his son Bradford is lying at the point of death and he therefore started out last night to go to him. The boy went to the mountains with the Hunsaker company, but remained there with some other boys when they left, and a few days later Paddy Fuller went up to get him to come in and help them make molasses.

SEWING BEE.

Quite a number of ladies met a few days since at the home of Mrs. Sarah Vance and spent the day in sewing. A good dinner was served, and the ladies enjoyed a good social time, and accomplished a good deal of work.

Jose Torres, the Mexican who was taken to Phoenix Monday, for giving liquor to an Indian, was bound over to the grand jury and must wait until next spring for his trial.

A. E. Ober moved yesterday from the Marsh ranch to the old M. L. Pomeroy place south of the Santa Fe depot.

Frank Sanders took possession of the Noble place yesterday which he has recently purchased.

D. P. Jones, who has had charge of the Wilber place the past year, moved back to his ranch in Lehi, yesterday.

M. L. Winesberger, now has charge of the Mock ranch and John Leavett and family have moved to Lehi.

J. B. Goodrich and T. L. Morris is back in the bicycle business again in the Long building.

DEATH ENDS CAREER OF NOTABLE MUSICIAN

Passing of Professor S. F. Cravens, Known Throughout the West as a Talented Instructor and Choral Leader.

Professor S. F. Cravens died yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, at his home No. 240 West Jefferson street. He had been a sufferer of consumption for the last twelve years, though for some years his affection did not materially interfere with his professional work.

About four years ago his health became so much worse that he decided to come to Arizona, and did so with Mrs. Cravens who survives him and who has been his constant companion. Since coming here it has been the practice of Mr. and Mrs. Cravens to spend the summers in the east, returning each fall, before the weather became severe in the east. For the first two or three years of their residence there seemed to be no change for the worse in the sick man's condition and his rapid decline began with a severe cold taken at Ash Fork a few weeks ago as they were returning from the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Cravens came to Phoenix from Ottawa, Kansas, which had been their home for about nine years, Mr. Cravens spending the summers in the west and the inclement weather of the winters in the south, devoting attention during the months he found it safe to live in Kansas to his profession, that of instruction in music and the recital of large choral events. At the time of their marriage in 1887, both Mr. and Mrs. Cravens had already achieved enviable reputations, both as musicians and instructors in music. They first made their home in Kansas City where they formed the Apollo club, a musical organization which gave a number of notable recitals. Moving to Topeka, they opened a school of music associating with them a number of persons of international reputation and also bringing to the city at various times world famous musical attractions. In 1892 both went to Europe and devoted their time to study with the masters, returning thence to their Topeka home.

Failing health caused them to give up their Topeka school and move to Ottawa, where Mr. Cravens was given the directorship of the conservatory of music in connection with the university. With varying health he had charge of this conservatory for some time and in the meantime was the active figure in numerous choral enterprises in other cities. Probably the crowning work of his career was the organization and direction of the Kansas Musical festival in which there were choruses from twelve different towns aggregating a thousand singers in their bringing together at Ottawa. The oratorio Creation, was given, and in its presentation, besides this famous chorus, were many notable instrumentalists and soloists. Numerous other festive events were conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Cravens jointly and their fame was probably unequalled in the west for work of that kind, their field of activity being everywhere between the Mississippi river and Denver.

Coming to Arizona in 1902, they opened the Cravens school of music which was the first institution of the kind in the territory and which was under the direction of Professor Cravens, though Mrs. Cravens has been equally as prominent in its conduct and owing to the ill health of her husband, much more active in teaching. Since coming to Phoenix both have made a wide acquaintance and were held in high esteem not only by the music loving public, but by all who knew them, as warm hearted personal friends, public spirited and devoted to their art, not alone as a means of pecuniary profit, but for the art itself. Mr. Cravens last winter had charge of two or three memorable musical events, even though he was then in very poor health and unable to give such projects the attention he desired to.

Though he was yet only at that age which for many men is their active prime, their day of achievement, it may be said of him that in living he accomplished more than many who have been blessed with longer careers and who have not been handicapped by perpetual conflict with that most insidious disease. Few there be who have climbed so high in their chosen work, and few have better earned the recognition of success. In his untimely end Phoenix has lost an estimable citizen, and one who will be mourned by many, while his devoted wife will receive the kindly sympathy of all who know her.

Funeral arrangements will not be announced until word is received from relatives in the east.

SELLERS OF VOTES
WILL GO TO JAIL

They Will Be Accompanied by Those Who Contract to Sell Votes Which Are Purely Imaginary.

Phoenix is said by politicians who are familiar with conditions in other parts of the territory to be the worst town of all for political grafters. The chances are, that after this campaign it will not be so bad, for it is quite certain that some of them will be looking through the bars soon after the election, if not before. Many of them have no regard for the law at all. They act as if they considered the sale and delivery of votes to be as legitimate as the selling of sugar. Some of them have no votes to sell, but they pretend they have, and so commit another crime, that of endeavoring to get money by false pretenses.

Almost every candidate on each of the county tickets has been approached by one or another of these grafters. One will say that he has ten votes which he will be able to throw to any candidate whom he may name, for say, $2 each. In opening the subject of the sale of votes he always says that the opposition candidate has offered him that much for his bunch of votes, but the opposition candidate is not of the political faith of the seller of votes who, while feathering his own nest, would prefer to help a party candidate along. But, if the party candidate cannot see his way clear to buy the votes they will have to be turned over to the more liberal enemy.

Several of these fellows have been spotted and the proclamation recently issued by Governor Kibbey on the subject of election irregularities is directed at them as well as at all others contemplating frauds. It is intended that the proclamation shall not be the end of the matter, but shall break up the disgraceful practice which has prevailed in this community for years.

There were yesterday registered at the Ford Joe Wilson, F. A. Good, Oakland, Mrs. Maud Denton and daughter Dallas, Texas, and the Grace Aylerworth company.

Mrs. E. W. Fisher has returned from a visit to the coast.

AMUSEMENTS

The sale of seats for the Lombardi Grand Opera company is now heavy. The indications are that the house will be sold out on their visit to this city. This is the first real musical attraction of the season and a great treat is in store for all, as the company is superior to any that has been seen in this part of the country for years.

Signor Lombardi for the past twenty years has been considered the leading impresario of Italy and his tours reach around the world. The opera to be given here is a great local favorite and the cast will include the best singers of the Lombardi Grand Opera company, supported by a large chorus and an orchestra that travels with the company.

Signor Lombardi has imported the tapestry hangings that were used in the production at the Milan theater of Italy. The same careful attention will be given the production here that has made them famous in the critical City of Mexico. Seats now on sale at San-lucas, 50, 75, $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00. Boxes, $3.00.

VANITY

From time immemorial moralists have railed at the vanity of woman. Here is a woman, and a beautiful one at that, who says that vanity is an imperishable instinct; that vanity, like love, is one of the great forces that makes the world go round; that to be vain is a duty to humanity and an essential of success.

It's an original view; what is your opinion? This defense of an old time sin is set forth in our new magazine—
